As a [Client] member, you have exclusive access to custom insoles from Hike Medical at $150 per pair. Backed by the Hike Fit Guarantee.

Why Hike?

- When your feet aren't supported, your knees absorb extra stress, your hips compensate, and your lower back tightens to pick up the slack. Custom insoles fix that at the foundation, so the rest of your body doesn't have to.
- Store-bought insoles are one-size-fits-all. Your feet deserve insoles made just for you. They wear down quickly and stop doing their job. A Hike insole is built from a precise scan with medical-grade materials, made to last.
- Getting custom insoles through a specialist means multiple appointments, months of waiting, and costs that can reach $500 to $1,000. Hike delivers the same clinical-grade result in two weeks, exclusively accessible through [Client].

We hope to serve you next!

Why do custom insoles make a difference?

Proven and trusted for over 100 years, custom insoles use biomechanics to align your body from the ground up. The support is built for the exact shape and movement of your feet. When the foundation is right, the whole body moves better. Less fatigue at the end of the day, less pain that follows you home.

Do I need a doctor's visit or prescription?

No. You order entirely from home with no appointments, referrals, or paperwork. All you need is your smartphone and about 5 minutes.

How do I place my order?

Visit go.hikemedical.com/get-started or scan the QR code on the front of this letter. Create your account, scan your feet in-app, and submit your order.

How do I scan my feet?

Using your smartphone, Hike technology captures the shape of your feet as you glide the phone in an arc around your foot.

How long does delivery take?

Your custom insoles are typically delivered to the provided address within 2 weeks of placing your order.

What if my insoles don't fit?

That's where the Hike Fit Guarantee comes in. If it's not right, we'll figure out what's wrong and make you a new pair, on us. Up to 3 rebuilds per pair, within 90 days of original delivery.

Will they fit my work boots?

Yes. Hike insoles are designed for a wide range of footwear, including work boots.

Can I get additional pairs?

Yes. Additional pairs are available at exclusive member pricing through the Hike member portal.
